Do watch if you can

Just to let you know that there is an interesting program on TV coming up, about education for the deaf in Uganda.

It's in the Unreported World series on Channel 4, due to show this Friday 21 Nov 2014 at 7:35 pm in UK.

Called 15 and Learning to Speak - 'Unreported World follows the inspirational work of sign language teachers transforming the lives of deaf children and adults in Uganda who have never been able to communicate until now'.

See <http://www.channel4.com/programmes/unreported-world/videos/all/15-and-learning-to-speak-the-sound-of-signing> which shows three preview clips.

The program does not give any more precise location than Uganda.

If you are not able to watch the program live, then it may well be available after Friday here <http://www.channel4.com/programmes/unreported-world/4od> where programs stay for about 4 weeks.

For those not in UK - the three clips are also on youtube, where you might get better download performance since youtube is probably more international than the Channel 4 website.

1/ <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AHfC6jqBhkk> - Patrick Speaks - a powerful film about a 15 year old boy named Patrick, who was born deaf and has never had a conversation, finding his voice for the first time.

2/ <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=StNmGd-lAc4> - The Joy of Speech

3/ <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WoLqxY4Mwx8> - The Sound of Signing

And a reminder that you can also visit our website which has a wealth of information on our work as well as a gallery of images from Uganda and the UK

And it's a little early, but Season's Greetings to all
